

You know the sensation from childhood of rushing on to the carousel to pick your perfect horse? You can have it again.

On October 21st Orange County civic, business, and philanthropic leaders will rush aboard the carousel at South Coast Plaza Retail Center in Costa Mesa, CA. And they will go around and around and up and down for children's charities.

That's when the fun starts. Each rider is tasked with raising $4,000. Together, they'll raise nearly $100,000 for children's charities in Orange County. How long it takes is up to the riders.

We are asking you to join them.

But what's truly wonderful is where the money will go. The event benefits The Possible Dream™, an innovative grant-making program from Festival of Children Foundation that finds, funds and follows the dreams of children's charities - from an inspired vision in an executive director's mind to a finished project with tangible results.

This year we have challenged applicants to collaborate with other charities, businesses and organizations whose visions and dreams for helping children match their own. By working together they can leverage available resources within the community to make a greater impact.

The only question is; how long will it take you to hit your goal and be let off?

The record is two calls. Think you can do it in one?

Horses are still available!

You may even want to challenge a friend to see who can step up and step off the carousel the fastest. We promise this will be an event you will never forget.

If you can't join us on the carousel, you can help make dreams come true by donating to this important cause. Visit www.thepossibledream.net to learn more or to make a donation.
